There is a persuasive explanation for the selection of the extract. The critique shows an excellent awareness of the film's genre and/ or its place in a broader sociocultural context. There is an insightful analysis of the director's intention. Simple description is negligible and analysis is clear and thorough.	25	This presentation has all the hallmarks of being carefully planned and executed. The candidate has timed the presentation most accurately and begins well. The analysis of the socio-cultural context is excellent and most insightful and this links well to reference to themes and genre. There is a little redundant material in the descriptions of who and what the characters are but this does not detract from the presentation overall. The candidate offers insightful analysis of the themes and rationale for the choice of extract. The presentation is excellent throughout and fulfils all the criteria at the top of the top mark band. Although there could have been a little more analysis of sound this was the only omission. The candidate deserves full marks even though there are minor flaws. A presentation does not have to be "perfect" to be awarded full marks.
